

Claude Atcho

REDEEMER CHURCH (SOMERVILLE)

About the Family

Claude and Kelsey met as undergrads in Washington state where Claude was pursuing a career as an English teacher before feeling a call to pastoral ministry while in graduate school. Prior to planting Redeemer Church, Claude served as a church planting resident, elder and college minister in Bellingham, Wash.

Sensing God's call to planting in 2011, Kelsey and Claude felt a pull away from the West coast to help establish a gospel-centered church in Somerville, Mass. The Atchos moved to Somerville in July 2013, and they have two sons, ages 4 and 2.

About the Church Plant

As a church, our heart is helping irreligious, dechurched and skeptical people become gospel people—spiritually mature disciples of Jesus (Col. 1:28) who point others to Jesus. God has graciously helped this happen, as we baptized two new believers in 2016 and have seen believers awoken to the glory of God's grace.

Redeemer had its first gathering in September 2013 with eight people. We spent a year meeting in our home before launching publicly in fall of 2014.
