BRIGHTER DAY BAPTIST CHURCH (EAST SIDE DETROIT)

About the Family

My name is Billie Smith, and I am a bivocational pastor of Brighter Day Baptist Church. For 13 years I have worked as a social insurance specialist for the Social Security Administration. I have been married to Cheryl for more than 17 years, and we are blessed with two wonderful daughters, Kennedi (13) and Keziah (10).

God has led me to plant a church to show His love by striving to reach a hungry world with Jesus Christ through obedience to the Great Commission, especially focusing upon those who are seeking a "new beginning." Brighter Day is a ministry in a low-income and under-privileged urban area of Detroit.

About the Church Plant

Brighter Day is a church that is building a family to change a nation by converting lost souls to Jesus Christ. We concentrate on providing discipleship training to help Christians develop their life with Christ from whatever their starting point.

We provide direction to those with substance abuse issues. Many of our families include single parents; therefore, we focus on building strong relationships with our youth and reach out to support them and their families of various needs.
