FAMILY CHURCH (KOREAN)

About the Family

Our family came to Canada about seven years ago from South Korea. While in Korea, I worked as an associate pastor for Seoul Jae-il Baptist Church. The pastor of my current church in Canada invited me to come to Canada. After a few weeks my wife, Sukin Jung, and I decided to accept the invitation for my future career as a pastor and for my son's (Jihwan Yu) education.

My wife is my biggest supporter. She is a great listener, so when I have a concern regarding my preaching or church practices, I talk to her first. Due to her great listening skills, which I believe is her gift of God, she is always approached by newcomers to the church or people at the church. She worked as a kindergarten teacher back in Korea. She is going to take care of the children of the church.

My son is going to college this year. He is not studying theology to become a pastor; however, I believe that every Christian can spread God's Word and bring joy to God no matter where they are.

About the Church Plant

My goal and vision in church planting is to establish a church of young people because they are energetic and lively. I want my church to be passionate, and in order to achieve this we would need young people—people who have hearts that are passionate about serving God and those in need.

My other goal in church planting is the church branch. This means that I want my church to produce another pastor who will go on to plant another church that will produce another pastor and so on. Because deciding to become a pastor is not easy, to achieve my goal I would have to encourage people and become their example of a good pastor to inspire and motivate them.
