ENDEAVOR CHURCH (HILLS PARK WEST SIDE)

About the Family

Before coming to Atlanta to start a church, Pastor Keith lived in East Tennessee and called the foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains his home. He was born in Knoxville, Tenn., and is still an avid fan of the Big Orange Volunteers! Pastor Keith and his wife, Coy, have four grown daughters who live in Knoxville and in Louisville, Ky. They also have twin toddler granddaughters, a 9-year-old grandson and two Boston Terriers.

Coy was born in Corpus Christi, Texas, and was a musician in the churches in which her parents served in Texas and Mexico. She attended Tennessee Temple University and studied music. She also taught Spanish in the Rebekah Home for troubled girls in Corpus Christi. After leaving Texas, Coy found herself in Atlanta, Ga., where she worked in the legal field for several years while singing and playing the piano/keyboard in both traditional and contemporary churches. Coy is working on a counseling degree at New Orleans seminary's North Georgia campus.

About the Church Plant

Endeavor Church is a multiethnic, multigenerational and, eventually, a multisite church. We are a Send Network church affiliated with the North American Mission Board, Georgia Baptist Convention and the Atlanta Metro Baptist Association Church Planting Network. We are located inside the perimeter (Interstate 285) of Atlanta. We meet in the Hills Park community near Howell Mill Road off Interstate 75 and near Atlanta Road off Interstate 285.

We work with a group that is fighting sex trafficking in Atlanta. We also work with international students at the Georgia State University BCM. We are currently involved in the Training for Trainers discipleship and church planting movement. We also offer free GED training.
