FOCUS COMMUNITY CHURCH (PLAINFIELD, N.J.)

About the Family

Ryan and Eren Moore are native New Yorkers who have been transplanted into the city of Plainfield, N.J. Ryan and Eren worked in youth and missions ministry for many years before God called them to church planting. They share a passion to engage and disciple individuals into an authentic relationship with Christ and with one another. They are both encouraged and humbled by God's call to plant churches and to partner with NAMB in this work.

Eren and Ryan are the proud parents of their daughter, Mikaela, and also hope to expand their family through adoption in the near future.

About the Church Plant

Focus Community Church (FCC) aims to be a multiethnic, multicultural church in a city that is divided both ethnically and socio-economically. FCC's mission: We aim to see restored lives and to restore the life of the city with the hope of the gospel.

In pursuit of this mission, the church has found unique and creative opportunities to engage the community and build new relationships while becoming better aware of the needs of the city. During the past 10 months, they have visited local churches, hosted Sunday dinners with neighbors, had Bible study house gatherings and taught English as a Second Language classes at the public library.
