THE SPRINGS COLLEGIATE CHURCH (COLLEGIATE CULTURE)

About the Family

My wife and I moved to Colorado Springs in 2012 after a number of years in a small town working in collegiate ministry. We moved to the area to finish my seminary degree at Gateway Seminary. In 2013 we welcomed our son, Jonah, into the world. Now we are a family of three.

My wife is a clinical social worker who is really into learning fun stuff and teaching our son. I'm a huge Texas Rangers fan and excited to engage the collegiate culture of Colorado Springs.

About the Church Plant

We began thinking about church planting in 2013 when we participated in an apprenticeship with Frontline Church Planting in Colorado Springs. In 2015 we attended an event called the Collegiate Collective in Oakland, Calif. At this event we felt the call to plant a collegiate church. From the end of 2015 through 2016 we focused our outreach and evangelistic efforts on Colorado College, a small college of about 2,000 students who are in desperate need of the gospel.

We believe God has called us as a church to engage this culture with the gospel and invite people into a disciplined life of following Jesus. We believe that being college-focused and infused with more mature believers will help these students follow Jesus.
